

ABSTRACT

5 Methods of preparing antibodies that recognize and bind three-dimensional epitopes of antigens are disclosed. The methods are particularly useful for preparing antibodies that bind the bioactive, three-dimensional amino terminus of parathyroid hormone. The antibodies so produced are used in diagnostic and therapeutic applications.